Child sexual abuse

Any sexual activities involving children, such as forcing a child to submit by enticing or rewarding him/her, or physically abusing a child by means of threats, intimidation or violence.

Abuse with physical contact

1. Forced kissing
2. Unnecessary touching or brushing against a child's body
3. Touching the breasts and private parts of a child
4. Forced oral sex, sexual intercourse or sexual touching of private parts by enticement, threats, rewards or pestering
5. Violent or forced sexual intercourse, i.e. rape

Abuse without physical contact

1. Viewing pornography together with a child
2. Having obscene telephone conversations with a child
3. Peeping at a child in the bath or while changing clothes
4. Revealing sexual desire or making sexual advances to a child
5. Exposing a child to sexual acts
6. Indecent exposure of body parts to a child
7. Taking nude photos of a child

Know your private parts

The immediate actions a child should take if someone attempted to look at or touch his/her private parts:

1. Say "No!"
2. Run away and go somewhere safe/among more people
3. Talk to an adult you trust
4. If the adult does not believe what you have said, talk to another adult until someone believes you
5. Do not keep it to yourself. Talk to someone so you can get help!
6. Call the Hugline at 2889 9933 as soon as possible

The actions an adult should take when a child tells you he/she was sexually abused:

1. Listen attentively and show trust in him/her
2. Keep calm
3. Assure the child by saying: "It is not your fault."
4. Encourage the child by saying: "Talk to me, I am here to help you."
5. Tell the child firmly that: "I will stop it from happening again."
6. Call the Hugline at 2889 9933 as soon as possible
7. Seek help from professionals or report to the police as soon as possible

According to statistics, in more than half of child sexual abuse cases, the abusers are known to the victims.

Most common child sexual abuse crime scenes

- Places of learning
- Homes of victims
- Homes of relatives/senior family members/caregivers
- Secluded places

Protect your child

Teach your child to:

- Know his/her own private parts (body parts covered by swimwear)
- Say "No!" immediately when someone attempts to touch his/her body, run away and go somewhere safe/among more people, talk to an adult he/she trusts

NO

Do not let your child:

- Allow others to touch his/her body casually
- Stay alone with any person
- Go to secluded places on his/her own

Respect your child

- Do not touch his/her private parts casually
- Do not tell him/her to strip naked casually
